

FOR RELEASE

Prepared for Remnants of Tropical Storm Nicole

PSE&G is committed to working safely to restore potential power outages and providing excellent service

(NEWARK, N.J. – November 10, 2022) PSE&G is ready for the remnants of Tropical Storm Nicole, forecast to bring rain and potentially strong winds to the service area. Throughout this week, employees have been performing system checks and prepping for potential outages.

“Forecasts predict Nicole weakening substantially before moving to our area yet we’re closely monitoring the weather, particularly for southern New Jersey,” said Jack Bridges, vice president, Electric Operations. “We are staffed and ready to respond to issues as they arise. We encourage PSE&G customers to prepare for the storm as well.”

PSE&G has additional personnel ready to respond, and is performing system and logistics checks to ensure the availability of critical materials, fuel and other supplies. PSE&G prepares year-round for extreme weather to maintain reliable service for our customers. Ten years after Superstorm Sandy raged across the East Coast, PSE&G continues to work to protect customers’ utility service from the damaging impact of extreme weather by strengthening and upgrading its infrastructure.

Customers should prepare, be cautious and stay alert to their surroundings during and after storms. Review storm preparation tips at <https://nj.pseg.com/safetyandreliability/stormsafety> and flood safety tips at <https://nj.pseg.com/safetyandreliability/stormsafety/floodsafety>.

Customer safety:

- Downed wires should always be considered “live.” Stay at least 30 feet away from downed wires, and don’t go near the pole or anything touching the line. Immediately contact PSE&G, at 1-800-436-PSEG \(7734\) via our mobile app or our website, to report downed wires and dial 911 if an immediate hazard exists.
- Electric current passes easily through water, so stay away from downed electrical wires. Don’t drive over – and don’t stand near – downed wires.
- Downed wires can potentially be hidden in standing water. If you encounter large pools of standing water, stop, back up and choose another path.
- To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning, do not run any gasoline-powered generators in a garage or any other enclosed space.
- If you are on life-sustaining medical equipment, please have a backup plan in case of power loss and ensure that you alert PSE&G in advance and notify your local police and fire departments. For more information, visit www.pseg.com/life.
